Layfield & Wallace's personal injury division handles cases of all sizes and 95% of the time we are able to resolve those cases without having to file a lawsuit. But when insurance companies don't play fair, Layfield & Wallace's trial division takes over the case and we stack the deck in our favor by planning the battle before the other side even knows we are at war.

Our trial division is comprised of skilled associates, paralegals, legal analysts, medical doctors, and investigators. Our trial division appears in courtrooms all over the country and handles approximately one jury trial every single month. In fact, we try more cases than 99% of all plaintiff law firms. The insurance companies know this and the defense lawyers understand the risks of going to trial against Layfield & Wallace. The reality is that Layfield & Wallace has the ability to obtain eight figure jury verdicts where most firms might lose the case.
